

EVESHAM RAMBLERS: BREDON HILL FROM OVERBURY (5.7MLS 262M)

Route Information

Evesham Ramblers: Bredon Hill from Overbury (5.7mls 262m)

Description: A relatively easy, and mostly mud-free, ascent and descent up to the tower on Bredon Hill. Starting from Overbury the route makes a steady ascent up to the northern edge of Bredon Hill and then follows this round, with some wonderful views, all the way to the tower. From there, there is a long and easy descent, much of it on a tarmacked estate road, going through Overbury Park and back to the start point.

Additional Notes: No stiles. The ascent and descent, though long are not particularly hard or steep. Most of the route is on good paths and tracks although the path at the top is quite narrow and rocky in places. Unlikely to meet livestock. Suitable for well-behaved dogs on leads.

Start Point: Overbury Church, GL20 7NY

Suggested Snack Break: At the Stone Tower (grid ref 9568 4018)
